Parliamentary Committee Seeks Input on Lobbyists Transparency Act

VICTORIA – A special committee of the Legislative Assembly is launching a public consultation on the Lobbyists Transparency Act as part of its review of the law that regulates lobbying activities in British Columbia.

The Special Committee to Review the Lobbyists Transparency Act is accepting written submissions from interested organizations or individuals until September 19 at 2:00 p.m. (Pacific). The committee will be reviewing all input with a view to inviting presentations at public hearings.

The Lobbyists Transparency Act requires a special committee to review the law at least once every five years. This is the first review of the Act. The special committee is comprised of Members of the Legislative Assembly from the government and official opposition caucuses and has until May 4, 2026 to complete its review.

To participate and for details on the consultation, visit <https://bcleg.ca/consultations> or contact the Parliamentary Committees Office by email at LTA2025@leg.bc.ca or by phone at 250-356-2933 or 1-877-428-8337 (toll-free in BC).

The members of the committee are:

- Steve Morissette, MLA, Kootenay-Monashee (Chair);
- Rosalyn Bird, MLA, Prince George-Valemount (Deputy Chair);
- Susie Chant, MLA, North Vancouver-Seymour;
- Kiel Giddens, MLA, Prince George-Mackenzie;
- Harwinder Sandhu, MLA, Vernon-Lumby.
